Organized.

Teachers from all sections of Virinia have returned to their homes and their schools from the convention of the State Teachers' association, reently held in Richmond, imbued with resh ideals and renewed hopes for 'urther developing the educational life n the Old Dominion. Many valuable deas were exchanged, which, when out into practical execution, will enaale the teachers to do their work even nore efficiently; in other words, to eliminate waste of dabor and time in

Two of the features of the convention were the addresses delivered by Orrin Lester, associate director of the Savings Division of the United States was directed in care of the Gunter Treasury Department, and Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, president of the Wirliam & Mary College. Both of these speakers discussed the thrift and savings movement, showing how it can be translated into terms of every day life in the school and in the home. They stressed the advantages which invariably come from the adoption of the savings habit, which means nor only the habit of saving money regularly, but wise spending, sane investment-in short, the best and most efficient use of all natural and acquired resources.

The savings movement in the Virginia schools, and by this is meant the schools practically in every section of the Old Dominion, is rapidry assuming promising proportions. Already about three hundred new savings societies have been organized among the pupils in the public and private schools of the Old Dominion and three thousand teachers have promised to organize their class room: and grades and to teach the principle of thrift as a part of their regular work.

Recent official figures from Wash ington show that from January 1 to November 1 of this year the sale of Treasury Savings Certificates, Wal Savings Stamps and Thrift Stampi in Virginia, amounted to more than $2,016,700, or a per capita purchase of about 90 cents for every man, woman and child in the state. This means not only that the people are acquir ing the savings habit but that they are placing their money in govern ment securities which are the best and safest in the world.

During the month of October, the Washington figures show, Wirginia people invested more than $56,000 in savings securities, an increase of more than $17,000 over the total investment in September. Much of this work was done in the schools, and, from the way that savings societies are being organized, the total amount of money placed in Treasury Certificates. In addi tion, beautiful certificates of achieve ment have been engraved and one will be given to every pupil as soon as he has bought a War Savings Stamp out of his savings.

A larger one has been engraved for those class rooms and grades of which every pupil is a member of a savings society or thrift club. Both of these awards hear the signature of Carter Glass, secretary of the treasury-but soon to become a member of the Unit ed States Senate from Virginia-and George J.
